STEVE KOCH

Associate Recreations Director,
Drexel Athletics Department

Steve goes above and beyond to serve the students of the campus through sports participation and experience.

He has developed a national program model that is value and "experiential learning" driven, which involves close to 40% of the campus and uses teamwork, sportsmanship, leadership, community, and development as the primary purpose.

Because of his dedication to students and hard work, the Intramural Program incorporates over 60 student selected intramural sports a year.

Student Life and the Office of Campus Activities are pleased to honor and recognize the achievements of our student leaders and student organizations at Drexel University!
