PROFESSIONAL STUDIES AT DREXEL UNIVERSITY GRADUATE STUDIES

Goodwin College of Professional Studies offers students the academic foundation and practical education needed for personal and career advancement. The college's curriculum is designed to produce tangible, real-world outcomes, and its faculty are experienced educators with noteworthy academic credentials and strong ties to their fields.

Goodwin's unique graduate programs align with market and industry needs and blend theory with practice through hands-on study, field research, and solid alliances with key businesses and industries. With flexible scheduling, full- and part-time options, and course offerings in both on-campus and online formats, these programs are appropriate for both traditional students and adult learners.

Our Programs

Goodwin College offers the following graduate degrees in technology and professional studies:

- Construction Management (MS)
- Creativity and Innovation (MS)
- Engineering Technology (MS)
- Food Science (MS)
- Hospitality Management (MS)
- Professional Studies (MS)
- Project Management (MS)
- Property Management (MS)
- Sport Management (MS)

We also offer these certificates with graduate credit:

- Construction Management
- Creativity and Innovation
- E-Learning Leadership
- Gaming and Casino Management
- Homeland Security Management
- Real Estate
- Sustainability and Green Construction

For More Information

In order to stay ahead of developments in professional education, we continuously review and update the content of programs offered. Prospective students are encouraged to visit these websites for the most current information:

The College of Professional Studies:

http://goodwin.drexel.edu

Admissions:

www.drexel.edu/grad/goodwin

The Graduate Catalog:

www.catalog.drexel.edu/graduate

