Honors Events and Ticket Day Details

We have a great lineup of Honors events planned for you for Summer Term 2011, including another chance to experience Miss Saigon, a trip to New York City, and a Philadelphia Union soccer game! To learn more about upcoming events to be posted later this week, visit the Honors Program online Ticket Day for sign-ups will be held during Week 2 on Tuesday, 6/28/11, 9 a.m. in the Pennoni Honors College Main Office (5016 MacAlister). As always, it's one ticket per Honors student per event. First-come, first-served. Stay tuned!

Fulbright ETA Information Session

On Tuesday, 6/28/11, 5 p.m. in 2019 MacAlister (33rd and Chestnut Sts.), the Drexel Fellowships Office will host an information session to discuss opportunities for the Fulbright for English Teaching Assistantship (ETA). Amanda McArthur, a Drexel University English Alumna who taught English in Bulgaria on a Fulbright Scholarship, will join the discussion via Skype.

The Fulbright ETA, sponsored by the U.S. Department of State, provides funding for one academic year of teaching English at universities or schools in more than 50 countries. Applicants must be U.S. citizens.

For a full list of upcoming events, visit the Drexel Fellowships Office online. For additional information on Fellowships opportunities, e-mail the Fellowships Office.

Fellowships Summer Workshop Series

Are you an undergraduate or graduate student applying for competitive national fellowships this summer or fall? The Drexel Fellowships Office now is offering a series of hands-on workshops for all students applying for competitive fellowships in 2011. The workshops are designed to help students develop the appropriate insight and skill to prepare a strong and successful application.

For a full list of Summer Workshops Series events, visit the Drexel Fellowships Office online. For additional information on Fellowships opportunities, e-mail the Fellowships Office.

Philadelphia Tour on History and Narrative

On Saturday, 7/9/11, join the Great Works Symposium for "History: Narrative/Narrative: History," a tour of old Philadelphia with noted poet and historian Nathaniel Popkin. This event will serve to explore the dialogical relationship between history and narrative, as well as the way our ideals (i.e., the stories we tell ourselves) collide with the reality of a city open to anyone.

The tour will begin at Front and Arch Sts. and end at 13th St. and Washington Ave. To RSVP—or for more information—e-mail Dr. Michael Fortner or visit the Great Works Symposium online.

Public Service and Leadership Positions Available

The Drexel University Lindy Center for Civic Engagement (CCE) is currently accepting applications for Fall Term 2011 for four of its premier service and leadership programs: Drexel Community Scholars; Lindy Scholars; America Counts/America Reads; and College Access Fellows.

Fellowships Office

Benefits and level of commitment vary among programs. All interested students should possess a strong desire to make a positive impact in the community at large. Benefits include paid positions, eligibility to join AmeriCorps while in college, and—of course—transformative/meaningful service and leadership experiences.

To learn more about these programs and the application process for Fall Term 2011, visit the Lindy CCE online or e-mail Seth Jacobson, Program Director for the Lindy CCE.

Fellowships and Scholarship Information

Interested in fellowship opportunities? As you may know, fellowships are nationally and internationally prestigious scholarship programs that help you get the education and experience you need to pursue your professional goals. These awards can support undergraduate or graduate study and research or work experiences here or abroad. The Drexel Fellowships Office helps students to navigate the application process for these opportunities through early-stage education and advice, as well as essay-writing support and feedback.

For additional information on upcoming deadlines, events, help with an application, and general advising, visit the Fellowships Office online or send an e-mail. You also may stop by 219-A Hagerty Library for Fellowships drop-in hours every last Wednesday of the month, 4 to 6 p.m.

English Language Center Positions Available

Are you interested in making some extra money this summer?

The Drexel University English Language Center seeks undergraduate students to participate in its International Teaching Assistants (ITA) Summer Training Program this August 2011. Participation will involve attendance and active involvement at up to six mini-lessons taught by international graduate students. The idea is to better prepare international graduate students for their ITA positions at the University by giving feedback to improve understanding of what undergraduates look for in a graduate-level instructor. Compensation will be $10/hour paid in Barnes & Noble gift cards. Interested participants can sign up for a flexible number of hours.

Mini-lessons will be held on the following dates from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. (unless otherwise indicated):

- Wednesday, 8/17/11
- Thursday, 8/18/11
- Discussion Panel Friday, 8/19/11 (9 to 10 a.m.)
- Wednesday, 8/24/11

Caravan for Democracy Trip to Israel

From Monday, 1/2/12 through Thursday, 1/12/12, a total of 20 college student leaders of all faiths from across America will be selected for an important Israel educational travel experience sponsored by the Jewish National Fund (JNF). This trip will include touring, meeting political, cultural, and community leaders, and exploring Israel's diverse democracy. Juniors or Seniors serving in a significant leadership position in political, religious, athletic, cultural and/or educational groups at Drexel University are encouraged to apply. All land expenses—including most meals and air travel between New York and Tel Aviv—will be covered through JNF.

The deadline for applications (including two letters of reference from Drexel personnel, as well as three short essays) is Monday, 10/3/11. To apply, visit JNF online (note that all applications must be complete before submitting). For additional information, call 212-879-9305, x245.

Volunteer with Philadelphia Middle-School Students

The Lindy Center for Civic Engagement (CCE) is seeking Drexel students to volunteer as mentors and tutors for Philadelphia middle-school students as part of the Philip B. Lindy Inner-City Public School Program.

This opportunity is open to all majors, including graduate students.

Prospective mentors should be able to commit to tutoring on

Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3 to 4:15 p.m., as well as from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., every other Saturday during Fall Term 2011. Benefits include a participation award of up to $500, and free transportation.

The Lindy Inner-City Public School Program aims to level the playing field by increasing academic achievement and expanding the social horizons for middle-school students living in nearby West Philadelphia neighborhoods. In addition to homework help in math and literacy, students and their mentors will meet on Drexel's campus for fun, social activities, and occasional trips.

For more information about this program or how to apply, e-mail Shayla Amenra, Program Director for the Lindy CCE or call 215-571-3668. To learn more about other Lindy CCE programs for Fall Term 2011, visit the Lindy CCE online.

3rd Annual Plane Pull Competition!

On Sunday, 9/25/11, 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. (doors at 7 a.m.), join the 3rd Annual Plane Pull at Atlantic Aviation (8375 Enterprise Ave., next to Philadelphia International Airport). The Plane Pull is a giant tug-of-war between your team and a hefty airplane. Teams will compete to see which one can pull a plane 50 feet within the shortest amount of time!

Teams of up to 20 friends, family members, colleagues, classmates, neighbors, and more can compete! Prizes will be awarded for "Overall Fastest Pull," "Top Team Fundraiser," "Top Individual Fundraiser," and "Best Team Theme."

Each team member is asked to raise a minimum of $125, or $2500 per team. All Plane Pull proceeds will benefit the families of the Philadelphia Ronald McDonald House. Ask everyone you know to make a pledge towards your team's pull. Visit the Philadelphia Ronald McDonald House online to get started, and create an online fundraising page to send out as an e-mail blast.

Registration is now open! Please note that participants must be 18 or older. For more information about how to register a team, e-mail Chris Callanan or call 215-387-8406.

Jack the Ripper Comes to Drexel

This fall, the Pennoni Honors College and College of Arts & Sciences will host an interdisciplinary conference titled, "Jack the Ripper Through a Wider Lens: An Interdisciplinary Conference." Unlike other conferences aimed at investigating the identity of the infamous late-19th-Century London serial killer, this special Drexel University event will explore a much broader range of issues.

The conference will be held on Friday, 10/28/11 and Saturday, 10/29/11 in the Bossone Research Center (Market Street between 31st and 32nd Sts.).

For more information, read an online article about "Jack the Ripper Through a Wider Lens." To register for the conference, visit the official website.

Because only a few seats remain, make sure to get reserve tickets at any of the following days/times/locations in advance of the trip date:

- Wednesday, 6 to 7 p.m. (Honors Lounge, 5051-B/C MacAlister)
- Friday, 3 to 4 p.m. (Honors Main Office, 5016 MacAlister)

NOTE: You also may purchase tickets directly from Carly in the Honors Lounge throughout the business day, as available (Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.).

On the day of the trip, the bus will depart from 33rd and Chestnut Sts. at 9 a.m., and then will depart from Six Flags at 8:30 p.m. later that evening (returning to Drexel by approximately 10 p.m.). For additional information, e-mail Carly Day, Honors Program Coordinator.

Volunteer with Philadelphia Middle-School Students

The Lindy Center for Civic Engagement (CCE) is seeking Drexel students to volunteer as mentors and tutors for Philadelphia middle-school students as part of the Philip B. Lindy Inner-City Public School Program.

This opportunity is open to all majors, including graduate students.

Prospective mentors should be able to commit to tutoring on

Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3 to 4:15 p.m., as well as from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., every other Saturday during Fall Term 2011. Benefits include a participation award of up to $500, and free transportation.

The Lindy Inner-City Public School Program aims to level the playing field by increasing academic achievement and expanding the social horizons for middle-school students living in nearby West Philadelphia neighborhoods. In addition to homework help in math and literacy, students and their mentors will meet on Drexel's campus for fun, social activities, and occasional trips.

For more information about this program or how to apply, e-mail Shayla Amenra. Program Director for the Lindy CCE or call 215-571-3668. To learn more about other Lindy CCE programs for Fall Term 2011, visit the Lindy CCE online.

Are you an undergraduate or graduate student applying for competitive national fellowships this summer or fall? The Drexel Fellowships Office now is offering a series of hands-on workshops for all students applying for competitive fellowships in 2011. The workshops are designed to help students develop the appropriate insight and skill to prepare a strong and successful application.

For a full list of Summer Workshops Series events, visit the Drexel Fellowships Office online. For additional information on Fellowships opportunities, e-mail the Fellowships Office.

Jack the Ripper Comes to Drexel

This fall, the Pennoni Honors College and College of Arts & Sciences will host an interdisciplinary conference titled, "Jack the Ripper Through a Wider Lens: An Interdisciplinary Conference." Unlike other conferences aimed at investigating the identity of the infamous late-19th-Century London serial killer, this special Drexel University event will explore a much broader range of issues.

Honors Program

The conference will be held on Friday, 10/28/11 and Saturday, 10/29/11 in the Bossone Research Center (Market Street between 31st and 32nd Sts.).

For more information, read an online article about "Jack the Ripper Through a Wider Lens." To register for the conference, visit the official website.

Great Works Symposium Fall Term 2011

As part of its year-long theme on "Health and Society," the Great Works Symposium presents its Fall Term 2011 course:

Instructors: Dr. Stephen Gambescia (College of Nursing & Health Professions); Dr. Michael Howley (LeBow College of Business); Dr. Saeed Hydaralli (Pennoni Honors College)

This course provides students with a unique and compelling format to explore controversial issues in health care and public health in the United States and globally. For example, should parents have a right to forgo vaccinations for their children? Are municipalities in the right to assess "sin taxes" to curtail unhealthy behaviors? Who decides how health resources are used for a population? Taking the form of weekly in-class debates, a controversial topic in health and society will be debated by a panel of students. The debates are intended to invite students to apply knowledge and concepts—both from this course and their respective majors—as a means of developing a better understanding of a current or enduring issue facing health care and public health. Drexel faculty will act as responders to students' work. The course also will bring as invited guests leading thinkers in the area of health care to present their perspectives on these controversial topics.

For more information, e-mail Kevin Egan, Program Manager for the Center for Interdisciplinary Inquiry.

"Researching Diversity" Archives Exhibition

The Drexel University Archives & Special Collections' latest exhibition, "Researching Diversity at Drexel," currently is on display in the 1st Floor Atrium of W. W. Hagerty Library (33rd and Market Sts.). This exhibition addresses questions about the treatment of international students and students of color in Drexel's fraternity and sorority scene; which departments had female students and faculty when Drexel was founded; and how the distribution of women at Drexel has changed over time. Highlights include documents from the University Archives, as well as essays recently written by students in Dr. Sharon Brubaker's English 103 classes; all of which explore issues of race, gender, and cultural diversity throughout Drexel history.

Drexel opened its doors in 1891 as a technical school dedicated to educating male and female students of all races, religions, and backgrounds. However, the history of Drexel's diversity is complex—as at any institution.

For more information—or to learn more about our institutional repository's diverse collections—e-mail the University Archives.
